NATIONAL NEWS:

❖LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES PROTECT US DURING ELECTIONS:

Chief election commissioner (CEC) HABIBUL AWAL has said that law enforcement agencies will have to bear the responsibility if there is any communal violence before,during or upcoming election

In the last few years attackers have targeted minority communities ,and the law enforcers have displayed apathy or reluctance in catching the culprits who are often linked to influential groups .the fear of repercussions has prevented from many victims from filing cases against their attackers.even when cases have been filed the likelihood of bringing the attackers .

The violence is not limited to attacks on minorities but can erupt against any individual during elections.the police's role during political events has been far from unbiased.the attacks on opposition members during rallies in the present times as well as in the past where there was a strong presence of the police have shown the level of bias with which they have operated.we have seen blatant camaraderir of the law enforcers and members of chatra league who have unleashed their wrath on members of the opposition and particularly anyone who appeared to be critical of the ruling .

The image of law enforcement agencies has taken a heavy blow in recent years because of alleged crimes committed by some of their members. but it is the politicization of the police and other law enforcers that has been the biggest letdown for the people. the upcoming election will show us whether the law enforcement agencies will live up to the role envisioned by the CEC as well as the role we the people want to see which is to protect every member of the public regardless of their political affiliation.

❖ INTERNATIONAL : INDIA TOP COURT DECLINES TO ALLOW SAME -SEX MARRIAGES

A five-judge bench headed by the Chief Justice of India D.Y. Chandrachud heard arguments in the case between April and May this year and pronounced its verdict on Tuesday. Chandrachud said there was a degree of “agreement and disagreement on how far we have to go” on same-sex marriage as he began reading his order.

Two of the other four judges agreed with the dissent on the court not legalizing same-sex marriages, making it a majority. The court ruling comes five years after a historic 2018 judgment when the Supreme Court scrapped a colonial-era ban on gay sex.

Only Taiwan and Nepal allow same sex unions in asia,where largely conservative values still dominate politics and society.

Prime minister Narendra Modi's government had opposed the petitions calling them "urban elitist views" and stating that parliament is the right platform to debate and legislate on the matter.

It has also said that such marriages are not comparable with the Indian family unit concept of a husband ,a wife and children.
